HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
Hoofland's German Tonic.
The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medically termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.
Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.
Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.
They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.
The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc, is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, as sympathizing so closely as it does with the stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:
Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.
The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigation and inquiries possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit these well known remedies—
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS,
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.
Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.
These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Disease of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.
DEBILITY,
Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, &c.
There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the slow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.
PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,
And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.
NOTICE.
It is a well established fact that fully one half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; or, to use their own expression, never feel well. They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.
To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.
WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN,
Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail.
Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.
TESTIMONIALS.
HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD,
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes:
Philadelphia, March 18, 1767.
"I find 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system.
Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD."
HON. JAMES THOMPSON,
Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, April 28, 1866.
"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."
FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,
Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, have in all cases declined; but with a clear conscience and proof in various instances and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.
Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Coates St.
FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL.
Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.
I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours truly,
E. D. FENDALL.

MUTINY ABOARD.

AN UNSOUGHT ADVENTURE.

At Sydney, towards the close of a sultry day in December, I was pacing the quarter deck of H. M. frigate Herald, when the old quartermaster called my attention to an unusually fine merchantman that was just rounding Macquarrie Point.

She was a very handsome clipper, and as she slowly came up before the faint breeze, her sun-bleached sails shone out in dazzling whiteness against the dark forests of gum trees that surround the lovely harbor of Port Jackson. Her long hull, though low and black, was yet exceedingly graceful, and for a vessel of her tonnage, she seemed to sit lightly on the water.

Having nothing better to do, I resolved to board her, and accordingly ordered the gig to be manned.

As with long, steady strokes we approached the vessel, the slovenly way in which they were taking in sail, the general slackness and untidiness of everything connected with her, became painfully apparent. Not that she was worse than the generality of merchant vessels, but leaving a frigate in the magnificent order and seamanlike condition of the Herald, without so much as a rope yarn out of place, the contrast was so very great. On board, all was noise, bustle, and confusion. The captain, who received me courteously at the gangway, I was surprised to find, was a young, gentlemanly-looking man.

In command of these Australian clippers, one generally finds rough, bearish old Scotchmen, who take pride in saying that they "came in through the hawse holes," by which they mean that they were originally common sailors. Any one knowing much about them would never doubt the truth of this favorite boast of theirs.

However, in this case it was entirely different. The captain, as I surmised, was a protege of the owners, and was accordingly placed in command of this fine vessel as soon as he had satisfied the very moderate requirements of the Board of Trade.

He was a most agreeable man, of good education, but totally deficient in any strength of purpose, and firmness of will or quickness of decision; hence I saw that he was by no means the right man in the right place.

After our first meeting, we were a good deal together whilst his ship was discharging cargo, and taking in her homeward freight.

As I expected, the greater number of his crew deserted in Sidney, and he had to make up the complement from the loafers and villainous riff-raff that abound in a colonial seaport. The day before he was to sail for England he expressed to me his distrust of his new crew. They were certainly as rascally a lot of ruffians as one would be likely to meet with.

Having had considerable experience of the merchant service, I knew tolerably well what these fellows were. When once out on the high seas, they would be all right; but whilst at anchor anywhere inside the harbor they become nearly unmanageble.

I therefore volunteered to see my friend out of his difficulties, by accompanying him to the mouth of the harbor, a distance of about six miles, and then return with the pilot. My offer was gladly accepted.

On the following day, I went on board just as the half-drunken crew, with much shouting and singing, were weighing the anchor. The fussy little tug-boat lashed alongside was hissing and steaming, and, as soon as the anchor was at the bows, her powerful engines began to move the two vessels slowly out from the circular quay into the stream. Then all hands dropped their work, and swarming up the rigging, greeted the bystanders and the shipping with drunken cheers. And so they continued to work spasmodically, and repeatedly leaving off to cheer, feebly and discordantly, anything that was passing. It is only too evident that there would be trouble with them yet, if there should not be wind enough outside the Heads to enable the ship to get clear away to sea that evening. The captain was already as nervous as he could be, and so I said nothing of my fears. It was with much concern for him that I noticed the veering flaws of wind growing every moment fainter and fainter.

As we slowly wound in and out amongst the lovely bays of this superb harbor, at every turn apparently landlocked in a different lake, each of a beauty surpassing the last, the wind gradually died away. The golden rays of the setting sun steeped one shore in a glorious flood of warm light, whilst the high cliffs and richly wooded slopes of the other were in dark sombre shade. By degrees the lengthening shadows, extending far out into the blue waters, stretched over to the opposite shore, and enveloped all a cold gray twilight.

By this time the noisy rattling old tug had taken the vessel within sight of the Heads; and it being a dead calm, she was brought to an anchor near a reef called the Snow and Pig, in such a position that she could stand out to sea with the first breeze. This done, the tug boat was cast off, and permitted to return to Sydney.

As soon as the cable was secured, the mate reported that the crew demanded grog. The men being already in a half intoxicated state, their request, which was really a demand, was not complied with. This was the beginning of troubles.

Their immediately followed much murmuring and many growls of dissatisfaction, gradually getting louder and more vehement. Presently angry voices were heard, in fierce altercation with the mates at the very doors of the cabin, and then about thirty of the worst of the crew rushed violently into the saloon, at the farther end of which the captain and I were sitting.

They were an ugly looking mob, some with blue shirts, some with red, many with neither, but nearly all brandishing large open knives. With frightful oaths and threats, they demanded that the keys of the "lazarete," in which the spirits are kept, should be given up to them. This of course, was refused, and they were ordered to leave the saloon. At this they yelled and shouted defiantly, still demanding the cask of rum. I attempted to speak to them, but my voice was immediately drowned in a torrent of imprecations.

In the adjoining state-room of the captain's, a revolver was lying on a table. I stepped quietly back, and returned with it concealed under my uniform coat. The captain then, by my advice, ordered the boatswain to pipe to supper. This command was received by all with derisive laughter, and yells of defiance. The time for action had come, so putting the captain a little aside, I stepped forward, at the same time taking care to let the revolver be seen. The sight of the deadly weapon produced an almost instantaneous silence amongst this cowardly crew.

Then, speaking slowly and firmly, I said, "Boatswain, you have been ordered by your captain to pipe to supper; do so."

He answered, with a string of oaths, that he would not, and concluded by telling me to mind my own business. Taking no notice of his braggadocio, I again spoke to him, in a tone that implied that I should be as good as my word.

"Boatswain," I said, "I have given you an order; if you fail any longer to obey it, I will put it out of your power to obey or to disobey another order in this world; for as sure as you stand there, I will send one of these balls, through your head. Now then, what do you say?"

With these words I slowly cocked the revolver, and took a deliberate aim at his head.

At the first sound of that disagreeable click of the pistol lock he cried out, "For goodness' sake don't fire, sir, I'll do it;" adding in a low growl to the others, "It don't matter, chaps, I know you won't go none the more for 't."

The boatswain's shrill whistle then rang sharply and clearly through the saloon, but no one heeded it except to greet it with yells and roars of derisive laughter.

As soon as I could make myself heard above the tumult, I said sternly and resolutely—

"Men, you have disobeyed your captain, but you shall do as I tell you." (Here there were shouts of, "Who are you? Go back and bully your own men," and the like.) "Now, I order you all to clear out of this cabin." Here again I was interrupted by cries of, "Won't," and much stronger expressions to the same effect.

"Very good," I continued; "you won't. Well, then I'll give you three minutes to alter your minds; at the end of that time I'll blow out the brains of the nearest man, and then the next, and so on."

At this there was a great buzz and talking amongst the men, yet they showed no signs of moving, but watched me standing with the pistol in one hand and my watch in the other.

"One minute has gone; you have only two minutes left, and you will have but one more warning." This I said keeping my eyes on the dial of the watch.

The crowd received this with a sulky groan, but yet they seemed as if they would stand to their ground. It was strange to see these wild, almost frantic men cowed into a state of dogged silence by one determined man with a revolver.

"Two minutes have gone; I warn you no more. The minute this hand passes the third minute I fire, and the nearest man will be my mark."

For a few moments more they stood grumbling and growling; but on hearing the click of the cocking of the revolver they began to waver. Then, comparing the respective distances of the foremost men from me, and fixing my eye steadily on one burly fellow, I said in a low tone, as if speaking to myself, yet loud enough to be heard by all, "I think he's the nearest, yes, yes, by some inches." At this he cowered down, and began to draw back to give one of his comrades the preference. He in his turn gave way to another, and so on, until it was evident that no one was desirous of being the foremost, and so they moved off, sulkily out of the cabin. They seemed sadly apprehensive that the last minute would be shorter than either of the two preceding ones, and it was really ludicrous to see how the last half dozen men turned over one another in their hot hast to get out of the saloon.

"Alone again with me, captain," he exclaimed, seizing me warmly by both hands "Thanks, my dear friend—a thousand thanks. But what an awful risk you have run. Did you know that there was not a chamber loaded in that revolver, nor a single cap on?"

"My dear sir," I replied, "I knew that perfectly well, but the men didn't and I trusted rightly that they would not find it out."

Having somewhat imprudently replaced the pistol in the captain's cabin, we went on deck to calm our minds with some good cigars.

The captain going below shortly afterwards, came quickly on deck again, and with consternation plainly visible on every feature, whispered to me—

"The revolver has gone—they have stolen it. We shall have more trouble to-night. What are we to do now;"

"You are right," I replied, "we have not done with these rascals yet; and it seems that they have the power in their own hands now, but that mustn't be. Quick! get me pens, ink and paper."

These were soon brought, and I wrote the following letter:

Ship——, off the Snow and Pigs Reef.

Send the pinnace immediately, with a dozen marines, with their arms and half cartridge. Let the boat's crew have ther side arms, revolvers, and ammunition; send mine as well. There is mutiny on board—expect an outbreak every moment. We must take them by surprise, therefore see the oars well muffled. Tha boat is to approach the ship's stern, keeping her three masts in one, so as to be as much out of sight as possible. The officer of the boat is to enforce strict silence on nearing the vessel. Lose no time in carrying out these instructions.

Having signed this, and addressed it to "The Commanding Officer H. M. S. Herald," the next consideration was as the means of sending it; there was the difficulty.

Our only chance was a passing boat. We watched anxiously for some time, and at length we heard a very merry pleasure party, singing as they pulled back after a day's sea-fishing.

To my shout of "Boat, ahoy!" nothing but the echoing rocks and hills answered. Just as we were losing hope, and the boat was passing away, I gave a louder hail, and I knew that I was heard, for they stopped singing and the monotonous splash of their oars ceased. Then there came a lazy "Hul-lo-ah! across the water.

"Give me a passage on shore," I sung out at the top of my voice.

They seemed for some time to debate whether or not, but presently a hail of "All right" was returned, and they pulled the direction of the ship.

As they came alongside I stepped over the gang-way into the boat, and was glad to find that the boatman was well known to me as a man whom I could trust. I slipped the letter into his hands, and told him in a whisper to take it with all haste, as there was a mutiny on board, and that was all I wanted.

By this time the crew were looking over the bulwarks watching us, as they could in the uncertain starlight.

The old boatman saw at once the position of affairs, and with consummate address said in a bullying tone, "Oh, it's you; is it? I know you; I don't have no navy gentlemen in my boat, though; so I guess you can go back aboard just so quick as ye like! I won't give 'co a passago ashore, so I tell 'ee Mr. Quarterdeck Jack!"

This was received by the men with roars of laughter, and I pretended to remonstrate with the clever old salt, who only continued, "There, don't I tell 'ee it's no use a-argyfying for I won't take 'ee ashore. Mutiny aboard, says you? Why you men o' war folks calls everything mutiny, you does; and if there is mutiny aboard, why you'd better stop and see it out. Come now, just git out o' my boat, for I won't take 'ee ashore—my colonial oath I won't."

Again the crew of the merchantman shouted with delight, and greeted me with derisive laughter as, with great apparent reluctance, I returned, to all appearance baffled. Thinking that these laugh best who laugh the longest, I rejoined my friend on the poop.

The ruse had succeeded admirably; none of the men, for a moment, divined my real object in calling the boat alongside, nor suspected that I had so well achieved my purpose.

So far the best had been done, but no assistance could reach me under two hours at the least. It was an anxious time. The men were gathered together about the forecastle talking with a savage earnestness; they showed no disposition to turn in peacefully, but on the other hand seemed to be only consulting as to their next course of action. Thus a long tedious hour passed.

To keep them quiet for another hour, the captain, by my advice, threw them a sop in the shape of some bottles of rum, which they received with ironical cheers. This was a desperate expedient, for although it had the effect of making them for the time more contented, there was no doubt but that in the end the spirit would only make them more pot-valiant and mutinous. However, we trusted that before then the pinnace would have come to our assistance.

Anxiously we sat at the stern-port, intently listening for the sound of the muffled oars. It was quite dark, nothing could be seen nor heard but the drunken brawling of the crew, on the deck. By degrees they became noiser and noisier, their conversation principally turning on that infernal naval lieutenant, they were pleased to designate me, and what they intended to do with him. Some suggested "keelhauling" him; others, a dose of his favorite cat-o'-nine tails; whilst many advised making a target of him for little practice with that revolver which had previously so cowed them all. Again, many thought he would look well dancing on nothing whilst hanging from the foreyard-arm—that is to say, if one could judge from the roars of laughter that this suggestion provoked All this was not particularly pleasant for the individual in question, so that we were not sorry when we welcome plash, plash, plash, plash of the pinnace's oars. A minutes sufficed for her to pull silently up under the stern, a few more saw the men safely ensconced in the after state-cabins, to which they obtained access by means of ropes lowered out of the stern-ports.

And they arrived none too soon, for the captain and I had hardly seated ourselves at our old places in the saloon, when the same unruly mob burst in as before.

In answer to the captain, they said they meant to do him no harm, and all they wanted was the man-o' war officer, and without him they would not leave the saloon.

To this the captain replied with unwonted firmness—

"This gentleman is a guest of mine, and I must first known what you want with him."

The boatswain then, as spokesman for the rest, said, "Wall, we don't 'zactly know yet what we do want with him, but you can take your jolly good oath that we'll make it pretty lively with him when we do get him."

Here there were shouts of "Ay, that we will."

"Hang the beggar;" "Stick him up and shoot him;" "Feed the sharks with him," and numerous other playful suggestions of a like nature.

"In that case," said the captain, "not a man of you shall lay a finger on him, so you'd better clear out of this at once."

"Avast there a bit," replied the boatswain, "not so fast, my hero, not so fast. That man taught me a lesson just now, and I'll just l'arn it to you now."

At these words he produced the very same revolver, and, with a malicious grin, he took a deliberate aim at the captain's head, at the same time saying, "Now, my fine fellow, if you don't change your mind in three minutes I'll blow your brains out first, and his'n arterwards. Thom's the right words, aren't they, mates? I thought I'd larned the lesson pretty well. I aint got a watch, I know, but I can guess three minutes near enough. But I'll tell ye what I have got, and that is a pistol as is loaded this time, there's no gammon about it."

This speech of the boatswain's was evidently considered extremely facetious, for the men roared again and again with drunken laughter, and they chuckled with a fiendish glee over the game that they thought they now had entirely in their own hands.

"So then," said I, "you rascals won't leave the saloon when your captain orders you to. I see that I shall again have to make you." This produced cries of "You make us," and howls of derision. "Stop a moment," I continued; "you want me do you? Well, then, here I am, and as much more of the same sort as you like."

At these words I opened the doors of the state cabins, and giving the orders, "Ready, present," a dozen rifles were levelled at the head of the braggart boatswain. With a cry of baffled rage and amazement, he dropped the pistol from his grasp and begged for mercy. The rest ran like a flock of frightened sheep.

The ringleaders and those who had been the most troublesome were soon secured and placed in irons. The next day saw them lodged in Sydney Jail, where they remained for periods of from two to ten years.

The captain of the merchantman was more fortunate with his next crew and made a good run to England.

Fruits of the Demon Drink.

Of the thousand floating rumors, which may be truth or sensation, none is more painful than the assertion which every now and then forces itself into ugly prominence, that intemperance is a growing evil among the women of the higher classes of our land. There is none certainly which any good man would be slower to believe or more reluctant to credit. Yet again and again the unpleasant allegation is made, not flippantly, but supported with the stubborn aid of facts. From the report of the State Temperance Convention, held at Harrisburg two months since, we extract an entry or two from the official records of application for entry into the Inebriates' Asylum of New York, which are simply fearful:

Clergymen,	20
Judges,	8
Merchants,	340
Physicians,	226
Gentlemen,	240
Rich men's daughters,	1,300
Total,	2,154

It may very possibly be that this institution does not fairly represent the cases from all classes of society, or is especially devoted to the cure of females. But all that does not materially alter the terrible story of its records. It is frightful to think of thirteen hundred young women of New York given over to the demon of drink, no matter how the cases are collected. And again, for every daughter handed over in despair to the public shame of an asylum, how many are there dying unknown and unheard of—the skeletons in the closets of gilded homes?—Press.

THE ANNUAL COST OF A NATION'S LIQUOR.—The New York Examiner has compiled a curious table, comparing the cost of liquors sold by retail in this country during one year, with the total value of railroads and their equipments. Mr. Wells, in his report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1867, shows that the cost of liquor to the consumers, that is the value of the retail liquor trade, "as deduced from the receipts of internal revenue," reaches the sum or $1,433,491,865, that is forty-three dollars for every man, woman and child in the country. It is more than one-eighth of the entire annual sales of the merchandise of the country, more than the entire product of the precious metals from all that region west of the Rocky Mountains for twenty years, which is estimated by J. Ross Brown at $1,165,000,000. It is nearly ten times the value of all the Church property of the United States, given in 1860 by the census as $171,398,532. It is more than one-half the national debt.

The total present cost of railroads is $1,654,050,799, exceeding the cost of the liquor drank by less than the worth of the railroads in Pennsylvania. The facts are too awful for comment. A nation annually gulping down liquor, nearly equal in cost to the cost of the railroads of the country! The moralist and the preacher may well stand aghast at such a table as the above.

"WE WILL FIGHT IT OUT ON THIS LINE."

OUR CANDIDATES:

FOR PRESIDENT,

ULYSSES S. GRANT.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

SCHUYLER COLFAX.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,

GEN. JOHN F. HARTRANFT,

OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL,

GEN. JACOB M. CAMPBELL,

OF CAMBRIA COUNTY.

☞It is not certain that a vote will be taken to-day, Tuesday, on the remaining articles of impeachment. The Managers have been investigating the "whisky ring" and will make report to-day.

☞Double sets of delegates were admitted into the Chicago Convention from several Congressional Districts in this State. That's why there were a few votes against Curtin in the Pennsylvania delegation. Mr. Scott did not go—his alternate from Mifflin county represented the district.

☞We feel happy. Gen. Grant was our candidate for the Presidency when he was not thought of for that position by politicians and leaders of parties. The masses of the great war party were for Grant because he was not a politician—and the masses forced the politicians aside, and we have Grant—the first victory for the honest people—the second we will have in November if we all pull together. We feel happy. Grant's platform is his record—he has been tried and not found wanting.

☞The impeachment question has been before the Senate and House almost continuously since the vote was taken on the XIth Article, and the Managers of the trial have been busy investigating into the conduct of the "seven" Republicans who voted to acquit the President. They have been charged with being bought by the "whiskey ring" to vote as they did. If the charges are true, is it not likely that they can be bought again to vote for the acquittal of the President on the other articles? We are still of the opinion that the opposition in the Senate to Wade occupying the Presidential chair had more to do with the acquittal of President Johnson on the XIth Article than the "whiskey ring" had. The immense patronage of the Government in the hands of Mr. Wade would have been a "big thing" to go to Chicago with. We will have the whole truth in a few days, and if it should be proven that the seven Republican Senators were bought, they should be impeached and sent home.

☞There is still a talk in Washington of organizing a new party, with Chief Justice Chase at its head, to defeat Gen. Grant. If it was possible for the Pendleton "hardshell" Democrats to vote for such a man as Chase, we might believe a pretty strong opposition might be made to Grant's election. Chase, a very few months ago was the favorite candidate of the extreme Radical Republicans for the Presidency. Now, without making any public or private repudiation of his radicalism some few of the Democratic organs favor his nomination as their candidate, in opposition to Grant. Oil and water wont mix—but Democrats and Republicans have mixed to accomplish a purpose, and they may mix again to hold control of the "spoils." At present the whole opposition to Grant—Democrats and dissatisfied Republican leaders—are at sea without a candidate. Possibly they may come together soon and show a bold and desperate fight. The Grant and Colfax party have only to pull together and the campaign will end all right.

The Nominations--President and Vice President.

We give in to-day's GLOBE, the most interesting portion of the proceedings of the National Union Republican Convention held in Chicago, last week. It was expected by every body that Grant would be nominated by the Convention, as he had been previously almost unanimously nominated by the people. For Vice President there was a spirited contest. Our first choice, and the first choice of the party of this State was Andy Curtin. Other States had candidates, and it was to be expected that Curtin would meet with a strong, combined opposition. We are satisfied, under all the circumstances, that the "Soldiers' Friend" did so well. Colfax, the successful candidate, next to Curtin, with Grant, is the strongest man to carry this State. The nominations give universal satisfaction, and we can see nothing in the way of their success in November next. We shall give the ticket our cordial support, and we call upon the party in this county to wake up at once and move forward, harmoniously to victory.

The National Union Republican Convention.

The convention met at Chicago on Wednesday the 20th. The Convention was as harmonious as such large bodies of men generally are. We give below the important part of the proceedings:

The following are the platform resolutions in full:

The National Republican party of the United States, assembled in National Convention in the city of Chicago on the 20th day of May, 1868, make the following declaration of principles:

First. We congratulate the country on the assured success of the reconstruction projects of Congress, as evinced by the adoption in a majority of the States lately in rebellion of constitutions securing equal civil and political rights to all, and regard it as the duty of the Government to sustain these institutions and to prevent the people of such States from being remitted to a state of anarchy.

Second. The guarantee of Congress of equal suffrage to all loyal men at the South was demanded by every consideration of public safety, of gratitude, and of justice, and must be maintained, while the question of suffrage in all the loyal States properly belongs to the people of those States.

Third. We denounce all forms of repudiation as a national crime, and national honor requires the payment of the public indebtedness in the utmost good faith to all creditors, at home and abroad, not only according to the letter but the spirit of the laws under which it was contracted.

Fourth. It is due to the labor of the nation that taxation should be equalized, and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will permit.

Fifth. The national debt, contracted as it has been for the preservation of the Union for all time to come, should be extended over a fair period for redemption, and it is the duty of Congress to reduce the rate of interest thereon whenever it can possibly be done.

Sixth. That the best policy to diminish our burden of debt is to so improve our credit that capitalists will seek to loan us money at lower rates of interest than we now pay, and must continue to pay so long as repudiation, partial or total, open or covert, is threatened or suspected.

Seventh. The Government of the United States should be administered with the strictest economy, and the corruptions which have been so shamefully nursed and fostered by Andrew Johnson call loudly for radical reform.

Eighth. We profoundly deplore the untimely and tragic death of Abraham Lincoln, and regret the accession of Andrew Johnson to the Presidency, who has acted treacherously to the people who elected him, and the cause he was pledged to support; has usurped legislative and judicial functions; has refused to execute the law; has used his high office to induce others to ignore and violate the laws; has employed his executive power to render insecure the prosperity, peace, liberty, and life of the citizens; has abused the pardoning power; has denounced the National Legislature as unconstitutional; has persistently and corruptly resisted, by every measure in his power, every proper attempt at the reconstruction of the States lately in rebellion; has perverted the public patronage into an engine of wholesale corruption, and has been justly impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors, and properly pronounced guilty by the votes of thirty-five Senators.

Ninth. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers, that because a man is once a subject he is always so, must be resisted at every hazard by the United States as a relic of the Federal times, not authorized by the law of nations and at war with our national honor and independence. Naturalized citizens are entitled to be protected in all their rights of citizenship as though they were native born, and no citizen of the United States, native or naturalized, must be liable to arrest and imprisonment to any foreign power for acts done or words spoken in this country. And if so arrested and imprisoned, it is the duty of the Government to interfere in his behalf.

Tenth. Of all who were faithful in the trials of the late war there were none entitled to more especial honor than the brave soldiers and seamen who endured the hardships of campaign and cruise, and imperilled their lives in the service of the country. The bounties and pensions provided by law for these brave defenders of the nation are obligations never to be forgotten. The widows and orphans of the gallant dead are the wards of the people, a sacred legacy bequeathed to the nation's protecting care.

Eleventh. Foreign emigration, which in the past has added so much to the wealth and development of the resources and the increase of power to this nation, "the asylum of the oppressed of all nations," should be fostered and encouraged by a liberal and just policy.

Twelfth. This convention declares its sympathy with all the oppressed people who are struggling for their rights.

Mr. Spencer, of New York, moved the adoption of the report, and called the previous question.

Mr. Cochrane made a point of order that the New York delegation had not been canvassed, and his colleague could not call the previous question except on the call of two States.

The Chair sustained the point.

Mr. Cochrane moved to amend by inserting a sentence declaring the President improperly acquitted by nineteen votes.

Mr. McClure, of Pennsylvania, by instructions of his delegation renewed the previous question.

Ohio seconded it. The question was put as ordered.

Mr. Cochrane withdrew his amendment.

The question recurred on the adoption of the report as presented by the Committee. It was adopted, with only two or three dissenting votes amid great cheers.

A motion to reconsider was tabled.

Mr. Thompson reported an additional resolution that the adjournment of this Convention shall not work a dissolution of the same, but it shall remain as organized, subject to be called together again at any time and place that the National Republican Executive Committee shall designate. Adopted.

General Schurz moved addional resolutions, recognizing the principles of the Declaration of Independence as the true foundation of Democratic government; also, commending the magnanimity of reconstructed rebels who now support the Government, and favoring the removal of restrictions and disabilities upon them just as rapidly as loyalty justifies. Pennsylvania seconded this; Mr. Warner, of Alabama, sustained it; Mr. Gooch, of Massachusetts, ditto. They were adopted nearly unanimously.

GRANT NOMINATED.

A motion was made to proceed to ballot for President.

Mr. Logan, in the name of the loyal people and soldiers of the Republican party, nominated U. S. Grant. The whole Convention rose to their feet, with great cheers, waving of hats and handkerchiefs, prolonged applause, three cheers for Grant, music, "Hail to the Chief."

The States were called, and voted "Grant." Georgia's vote was announced by Gov. Brown, who said the Georgia Republicans, many of whom were original accessionists, recognized the maxim, "Enemies in war, in peace friends."

During the process of calling the States, each successive vote was received with enthusiasm. Sickles, rising to cast New York's vote, was received with cheers. The Territories were also called, each having two, except Colorado, which was allowed six.

The chair announced six hundred votes, all Grant. [Great laughter.] As the vote was announced, a new drop curtain in the rear of the stage was uncovered, presenting a fine portrait of Grant, supported by Liberty. Above was the motto, "Match him." Music, "Hail to the Chief," and "Yankee Doodle."

On motion, three cheers were given for the nominee. The Convention joined in singing "Rally round the Flag," accompanied by the band. [Here the enthusiasm was indescribable.]

On motion, the President was authorized to telegraph the nomination to Grant. The campaign song, music by George F. Root, entitled "Fight it out sure on the old Union line," was sung, and received with great favor.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY.

Mr. Scofield, of New York, moved to proceed to the nomination of Vice President.

Mr. Sinclair made a motion for a recess. Rejected.

The Convention agreed to proceed to the nomination.

Mr. Pierce, of Virginia, nominated Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts.

Mr. Claflin, of Massachusetts, seconded this, and eulogised Mr. Wilson warmly, sketching his life and services.

Mr. Lane, of Indiana, nominated that tried, true and trusted patriot, Schuyler Colfax. [Great cheering.] He eloquently presented his claims. With Colfax, who is no doubtful man, Indiana is sure for the ticket, although by some slanderously called doubtful.

Mr. Parker, for New Jersey, seconded Colfax as the candidate and representative of the young men, loved by them for the characteristics of heart and mind.

Mr. Dutcher, for Michigan, supported Mr. Colfax, every mention of whose name was hailed with cheers. [Colfax stock seems rising.]

Mr. Brown, of Pennsylvania, said Allegheny county would give Colfax ten thousand majority. Other Pennsylvania delegates interrupted, saying Mr. Brown was acting against instructions.

Mr. Brown retorted that his county gave the whole Republican majority of the State, and he would vote for Colfax, first, last, and all the time.

Mr. Hassaurs, for Ohio, presented that champion of human rights, B. F. Wade, the child of the people, a self-made man; [wild cheers] one of such incorruptible virtue that the people knew him as honest Ben Wade. Let the convention say to him for the people, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Mr. Actuary for a large majority of the Missouri delegation, seconded Wade. [Cheers.] If nominated there will be no temptation to assassinate Grant.

Mr. Spalding, of Ohio, said for the first time his State united on a candidate. It would give Wade 42 votes.

Mr. Jones, of South Carolina, supported that old Roman veteran, Ben Wade. His State was ready to "Wade in."

Mr. Tieman, of New York, nominated New York's favorite son, Reuben E. Fenton. [Cheers] He sketched his public career; eulogized his character; urged him as a great political organizer, and the soldiers' friend; argued earnestly to show Fenton's strength before the people; claimed his nomination would secure victory in N. York, closing amid great cheers.

Mr. Harris, of Illinois, eloquently supported Gov. Fenton as the standard bearer in the canvass, defeating Horatio Seymour.

*At this time the Chicago Republi*cans were heard firing one hundred guns for Grant's nomination.

General Logan announced that Illinois would cast fifteen for Fenton, eleven for Hamlin, three for Colfax.

Mr. Warmouth, for Louisiana supported Fenton.

Mr. Wood, of Kentucky, nominated ex-Attorney General Jas. Speed of Kentucky.

Mr. Saunders, for Maryland, nominated John A. Cresswell, of Maryland. He said he had asked his delegation to refrain from obeying the instruction of the Maryland Convention to vote for him. They declined peremptorily.—He must acquiesce, reserving the right to cast his individual vote for Wade. [Cheers.]

Mr. Forney, of Pennsylvania, as Chairman of the Republican Committee of that State, nominated Andrew G. Curtin.

Mr. McClure presented Gov. Curtin's claims as representative of the hundred thousand Pennsylvania Republicans, reminding the Convention that as the State cast her vote next November, so will be the decision of the canvass. [Repeated cheers.]

Mr. Williamson, for Iowa, nominated James Harlan.

Mr. Whittemore, of South Carolina, endorsed Mr. Wilson. [Cheers.]

Mr. Keifer, for Alabama, named W. D. Kelley, of Pennsylvania. [Partial applause and boisterous laughter.]

Mr. Seymour, of Wisconsin, supported Hannibal Hamlin, but stated his delegation gave Fenton seven, Colfax six, Hamlin two, Curtin one. Personally he thought it wise to relieve the mistake made at the Baltimore Convention, where Hamlin was dispatched for Johnson.

Mr. Sheopley, for Maine, nominated Hamlin. [Cheers.]

Mr. Saulter, of Pennsylvania, supported Curtin. He said he was nearly the undivided choice of the State *Convention, and ridiculed the associa*ted opposition to him.

Mr. Humphroy, of Alabama, said his delegation respected Kelley, Wade and other nominees, but part of the Convention supported Wilson.

Mr. Rosterfer, of Illinois, seconded Hamlin. He would unite the party of the whole Union.

Mr. Hubbard, of West Virginia, called for a vote, that the delegations may show their hands. [Cries of "vote, vote."

Mr. Martin, of Kansas, nominated Senator Samuel C. Pomeroy, of Kansas.

General Sickles, of New York, was greeted with cheers. He supported the claims of Fenton as one of the group of war Governors who supported the patriotic War Secretary, Stanton. [Moderate applause.]

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll for Vice President. Much splitting of delegations occurred. Fenton had 132, Wade 149, Wilson 119, Kelley 6, Colfax 118, Curtin 52, Hamlin 30, Harlan 16, Cresswell 14, Pomeroy 1; whole number, 148; necessary to a choice, 335.

SECOND BALLOT.

Wade,	170	Wilson,	113
Colfax,	149	Curtin,	45
Fenton,	140	Hamlin,	30

THIRD BALLOT.

Wade,	178	Colfax,	164
Fenton,	139	Wilson,	101
Curtin,	40	Hamlin,	25

After the third ballot had been taken Mr. McClure, of Pennsylvania, said: I hold in my hand a letter from Gov. Curtin, placed in the hands of the delegation from Pennsylvania, allowing them, at their discretion, to withdraw his name. A majority of the delegation have instructed me now to present that letter and thus withdraw his name from before this convention. He then read as follows:

PHILADELPHIA, May 16, 1868.

GENTLEMEN: While deeply sensible of the honor done Pennsylvania in this cordial presentation of my name for Vice President, and the instructions of the convention, directing the vote of the State to be cast for me, I do not feel justified, at this period of our country's peril, to allow my name to be used to embarrass in any degree the action of the delegates in effecting what may be deemed best for the harmony of the party and the success of our cherished principles.

Never before in our history was the success of loyal principles so vital to the peace and prosperity, indeed to the safety of the Republic, and no mere personal interest or ambition should be allowed to interfere with the deliberations of the people, or the declaration of their judgment at the election. We must have the most cordial unity of action, and when my name stands in the way of it, the delegation should not hesitate to withdraw it from the list of the candidates. Fidelity to the harmony and interests of the Republican party will be the highest measure of fidelity to me on the part of the Pennsylvania delegation. Appalling treachery and emboldened treason confront us, and the welfare of the living and justice to the memory of the heroic dead demand of all a singleness of purpose in making this last struggle for freedom, justice, and law.

Do not hesitate to withdraw my name whenever, in your judgment, it will promote unity and harmony in the Republican party and its ultimate triumph, which is essential to the perpetuity of the Government and the happiness of the American people.

Very respectfully, yours,
ANDREW G. CURTIN.

FOURTH BALLOT.

Wade,	204	Wilson,	87
Colfax,	186	Hamlin,	25
Fenton,	144

FIFTH AND LAST BALLOT.

Colfax,	522	Fenton,	75
Wade,	42	Wilson,	14

Necessary to a choice, 326.

Before the vote was announced, all the States except New York and Ohio declared unanimously in favor of Colfax. The chairman then announced Mr. Colfax as the nominee for Vice President.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' National Convention.

The Convention which met at Chicago on the 19th adopted the following resolutions:

Gen. Logan, Chairman of the Committee on resolutions, reported as follows:

Resolved, That the soldiers and sailors, steadfast now as ever to the Union and the flag, fully recognize the claims of General Ulysses S. Grant to the confidence of the American people, and believing that its victories won under his guidance in war will be illustrated by him in peace by such measures as shall secure the fruits of our exertions, the restoration of the Union upon a loyal basis, we declare it as our deliberate conviction that he is the choice of the soldiers and sailors of the Union for the office of President of the United States.

Resolved, That in the maintenance of those principles which underlie our government, and for which we fought during a four years' war, we pledge our earnest and active support to the Republican party as the only political organization which in our judgments is true to the principles of loyalty, liberty and equality before the law.

Resolved, That speaking for ourselves and soldiers and sailors who imperilled their lives to preserve the Union, we believe that the impeachment of Andrew Johnson by the House of Representatives for high crimes and misdemeanors in office, and his trial before the United States Senate, have presented unmistakable proofs of his guilt, and that, whatever may be the judgment of the tribunal before which he is arraigned, the verdict of guilty is given by the people, and we regard any Senator who has voted for his acquittal as falling short of the proper discharge of his duty in this hour of the nation's trial, and as unworthy of the confidence of a brave and loyal people.

Resolved, That the soldiers and sailors recognize no difference between the native and adopted citizens, and they demand that the goverment protect naturalized citizens abroad as well as those of native birth.

After the reading of the third resolution, every member present rose to his feet and gave three hearty groans for Andrew Johnson and the traitorous Republican Senators, while the band played the "Rogue's March."

On motion of General Wm. Gregg, of New York, the above resolutions were unanimously adopted amid cheers for Grant.

On motion of W. S. Andrews, of New York, it was resolved that we, the soldiers of the republic, extend to the loyal men of the South our sympathy and the promise of our support in the struggles yet in store for them under the present Administration, before they can enjoy the liberties of American citizens without the fear of persecution and assassination, and that if necessary we stand ready to aid them with our strength in the future as we have in the past.

Several resolutions of thanks were offered and passed, after which, on motion of General Sickles, of New York, the Convention adjourned, subject to the call of the President.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 22, 1868.

Serenade of General Grant and Speaker Colfax--Their Speeches.

General Grant was serenaded this evening. After the band had played "Hail to the Chief." calls were made for Gen. Grant, when he appeared at the door of his residence, and was greeted with prolonged cheers. Representative Boutwell, of Massachusetts, who was at his side, addressed him as follows:

GENERAL: This assemblage of your fellow-citizens, brought together without organization or previous arrangement, have desired me to express to you their gratification at your nomination for President of the United States [applause] by the Republican Convention recently assembled at Chicago.—(Renewed applause.) The unanimity with which you have been nominated, almost, if not altogether, without an example in the history of our country, furnishes a sufficient indication of the vast majority, if not the entire unanimity, with which the nomination will be sustained by the loyal people of the country.—[Applause.]

The Republican party has not yet had an opportunity to test its capacity for the government of the Republic in time of peace. We have had a war of more than four years duration, but the valiant and patriotic people of this country, under your leadership, quelled the mightiest rebellion the world has ever seen, against the best government known in the history of mankind. You will be supported in the contest upon which you have entered by the same heroic men who were with you at Shiloh, in the wilderness, and before Richmond, and you are to meet with the opposition of comparatively few of those who have returned to the support of the Union, the Constitution, and the flag of the country. And with but few exceptions you are to be proposed by the same men animated by the same principles which animated the men engaged in the rebellion you were so instrumental in overthrowing. [Applause.] The nation expects and will receive from you the same devotion to its interests, the same patriotism in your purposes, the same integrity and firmness of will which characterized your command of its armies, and I doubt not that in the contest which is now before us we shall achieve a victory as memorable in the history of our country as that which illustrated the Army of the Republic at the surrender of Richmond. Your fellow citizens will you in this contest—they will support support your administration, knowing that your administration will be characterized by firmness, by integrity, by patriotism, by good sense, and all the manly qualities which have marked your past career [Applause.]

My fellow-citizens, I have now the pleasure of presenting to you the next President of the United States, General Grant, the commander of your armies. [Renewed and long-continued applause.]

General Grant then said:

GENTLEMEN: Being entirely unaccustomed to public speaking, and without any desire to cultivate that power [laughter], it is impossible for me to find appropriate language to thank you for this demonstration. All that I can say is that to whatever position I may be called by your will, I shall endeavor to discharge its duties with fidelity and honesty of purpose. Of my rectitude in the performance of public duties, *you will have to judge for your*selves by my record before you.

Three cheers were then given for Gen. Grant, and hundreds of the crowd entered the house and congratulated the General.

The procession then proceeded to the residence of Speaker Colfax. Calls having been made for him, he appeared at the door of his residence in company with Representative Pike, of Maine, who said:

We are here to-night to express our gratification that, while the convention recently assembled at Chicago took good care to respect the public will in nominating a candidate for President of the United States, in the person of the distinguished chieftain, General Grant, they took equal good care to select for the second place on the successful ticket a gentleman whose character, public and private, whose long and well known services, and high and consistent devotion to principles, afford sufficient ground to believe that no person, representing either himself alone or a party, will strike at the first for the purpose of rescuing a traitorious Administration from destruction. [Applause] I will not detain you longer. I have now the pleasure of introducing to you the next Vice President of the United States.

These remarks having been received with applause, Speaker Colfax said:

MY FRIENDS: I thank you with all the emotions of a grateful heart for this flattering manifestation of your confidence and regard. I congratulate you on the auspicious opening of the eventful campaign on which we are entering. In the Chicago Convention, representing the entire continental area of the Republic, every State, every Territory, every district, and every delegate, from ocean to ocean, declared that their first and only choice for President was Ulysses S. Grant. [Great applause.] Brave and yet unassuming, reticent and yet when necessary firm as the eternal hills—(applause)—with every thought and hope and aspiration for his country—with modesty only equalled by his merits—it is not extravagant for me to say that he is to-day, of all men in land, "First in war, first in peace, and in the hearts of his countrymen." (Great applause.)

His name is the very synonyme of victory, and he will lead the Union hosts to triumph at the polls as surely as he led the Union armies to triumph in the field. But greater even than the conqueror of treachery and the destroyer of the rebellion is the glorious inspiration of our noble principles, animated by the sublime truths of the Declaration of Independence. Our banner bears an inscription more magnetic than the names of its standard bearers, which the whole world can see as it floats to the breeze, "Liberty, and loyalty, justice and public safety."

Defying all prejudice, we are for uplifting the lowly and protecting the oppressed. (Applause.) History records to the immortal honor of our organization, that it saved a nation and emancipated a race. We struck the fetters from the limbs of the slave and lifted millions into the glorious sunlight of liberty. We placed the emancipated slave on his feet as a man, and put into his right hand the ballot to protect his manhood and his rights.—We staked our political existence on the reconstruction of the revolted States; on the sure and enternal corner-stone of loyalty, and we shall triumph. I know there is no holiday contest before us; but with energy and zeal, with principles that humanity approved, and that I believe God will bless, we shall go through the contest conquering and to conquer, and on the 4th of March next the people's champion will be borne by the people's votes to yonder White House, that I regret to say is now dishonored by its unworthy occupant. Then, with peace and confidence, we may expect our beloved country to enter upon a career of prosperity which shall eclipse the most brilliant annals of our past. I bid you God speed in this work, and now good night.

Applause followed the conclusion of Mr. Colfax's speech, and the band played an appropriate air. Many persons in the crowd entered the dwelling and extended their congratulations.

A NEW REMEDY IN CONSUMPTION.—A Physician who had Consumption for several years, with frequent bleedings of the lungs, cured himself with a medicine unknown to the profession, when his case appeared hopeless. He is the only physician who has used it in his own person, or who has any knowledge of its virtues; and he can ascribe the degree of health he now enjoys to nothing but the use of his medicine; and nothing but utter despair and entire extinction of all hope of recovery, together with a want of confidence in all others induced him to hazard the experiment. To those suffering with any disease of the Lungs he proffers a treatment he confidently believes will eradicate the disease. Price $1.50 per bottle, or $8 a half dozen, sent by express. Send for a circular or call on DR. E. HOVLSTON JACK-ON.

We are glad to hear that the services of our band are becoming appreciated in a different direction from that of serenading married couples. It is commendable liberality that would lead a young man to give his lady the benefit of a serenade, and we expect to hear of our other "gallants" following suit.

The Sunday School Institute which was held in this place three days last week, was largely attended, and the instructions received through Rev. J. H. Vincent in the management of Sunday Schools was such as warranted the representations of his ability and no doubt inspired Sunday School workers with new energy in their cause. We will be happy to publish the official proceedings of the Institute when we receive them from the Secretary.

Honor the Patriot Dead.

The members of Post No. 33, Grand Army of the Republic, propose complying with the general order of their Grand Commander designating Saturday next, the 30th inst., as a day for decorating the graves of deceased Union soldiers. This ceremony is to be observed throughout the United States, and it is proper that the surviving comrades here should not forget the patriot dead whose remains rest on Cemetery Hill. While we honor the living how much more than honor is due to those who have given up their lives! All, we think, would desire to join in the ceremony, and while it is to be under the auspices of the members of this Post they have no inclination to restrict to themselves the entire proceedings. They cordially and especially invite all soldiers who are not members of the organization to participate, and all citizens to join with them. A meeting will be held at the Court House, on the pay designated, at 2 o'clock, P. M., from whence they will proceed to the Cemetery.

We are happy that our genial, whole-souled friend has received such a high testimonial of esteem from his friends, as he is in every respect deserving of it, and it shows that his friends are not a few. THE "Messenger of Health," edited at the Pennsylvania Institute of Medicine, contains an article on Dyspepsia, Chills and Fever, and Kidney Affections, in which the writer positively declares that the whole science of Medicine possesses no remedy for the cure of those diseases, that is half as effectious as Michler's Herb Bitters. He speaks from experience, having used them in his practice for the past two years, to the exclusion of all other remedies, and without a solitary instance of failure.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Cassville Soldiers' Orphan School.

[From the York True Democrat.]

In the Trough Creek Valley, near Shirley's Knob, in the County of Huntingdon, is situated the little village of Cassville. This village is about ten miles from Mapleton, a station on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the road leading from this point to Cassville lies directly over Sideling Hill mountain. The view from the top of this mountain summit is very grand and beautiful. At your feet far below, are finely cultivated fields, while all around them are high hills remarkable for their steepness and covered with sharp rugged rocks and trees. Some of these trees are pine or hemlock, tall and straight, and towering far above the rest, the monarchs of the woods, and decked with their never-fading emerald crowns. In the distance between the towering hills may be seen the bright waters of the Juniata rolling along towards the Susquehanna, and looking like a line of silver, binding the rugged bases of the mountains, which loom up to a considerablt height on either side of the river. After descending a gentle grade of the mountain, going toward Cassville, a fine agricultural region is reached, which keeps you company until the little hamlet above alluded to heaves in view.

At this place is located the Cassville Soldiers' Orphan School. The main buildings of which there are two, are substantial brick structures, one being known as the school house, and the other as the home. The school house is 32 by 62 feet two stories in height and surmounted by a cupola, which contains a bell. The home is 32 by 32 feet, four stories in height and also of brick. The first story contains the dining room, kitchen, wash room, bake-room, store-room, &c. In the second story are the "office," sewing department, rooms for visitors, &c. The third story is devoted to the girls and their teachers as a sleeping apartments, while the fourth is the dormitory occupied by the boys. Both the third and fourth stories are provided with capacious bath rooms, properly fitted up, and adjoining these are the clothes rooms. A mountain rises at the rear of the building, and makes a very picturesque back ground to the landscape. Near the top of this mountain is a fine spring which supplies the institution with an abundance of excellent water. These institutions are designed to be both homes and schools. The pupils are not only instructed in the various branches of study taught in our public schools, but they are also instructed in what is of just as much consequence—how to work. Each scholar is required to attend school six hours per day, and also to labor two hours. They rise at half past five in the morning, breakfast at six—the meal occupying half an hour—play from half past six to 8, when they are summoned into the study hall where devotional exercises are performed, and then the days work begins in earnest. The plan adopted in this school, is to divide the exercises into half hours, each class studying under the direction of a teacher for a half hour, then going down to their class rooms to recite a half an hour.—In the study hall no recitations are heard; the lessons are simply prepared here, and if the pupil is not able to master the task, it is the duty of the teacher to assist him in overcoming the difficulties. The studies pursued are reading, Spelling, Writing, Grammar, Geography, arithmetic, his of the United States, Algebra, Vocal Music, &c. The pupils as a class are bright and intelligent, and seem greatly interested in their studies. Some of the map drawing done at this school is very fine indeed, and would be creditable to any school of a similar grade in the country.

The school is under the direction of Rev. A. L. Guss, as principal, assisted by Mrs. Guss, as matron. The teachers are five in number, Messrs. A. H. Weidman, S. W. Heaton, and Mr. W. Lytle, Miss C. A. Phillips, and Miss Emma Hall. The number of pupils is 174; 93 boys and 81 girls. The girls are taught to bake, sew, cook, wash and iron, and are required to assist in all of the departments of housewifery. The sewing department is under the direction of Mrs. Mary McCauley; sick nurse, Mrs. McManama; chambermaid, Miss Amelia Ray; Superintendent of dining room, Miss M. Kate Rough; cook, Miss Eliza Kurtz; baker, Mrs. Rough; washing department, Mrs. L. Fulton; farmer, Mr. Beannan; shoemaker, Mr. E. Guss.

The dress of the boys is army blue, with blue cloth caps. The girls wear for Sunday, blue merino with guilt buttons, and brown colored hats, or else pink calico dresses trimmed with white buttons. The clothing is all made in the institution, and the pupils are required to assist in its manufacture. The pupils present a neat and tidy appearance, and are kept scrupulously clean, and as a class are remarkably healthy. They are supplied with an abundance of plain and substantial food, and are well cared for, and kindly treated in every respect.—This is what is known as an advanced school, no pupil being under ten years of age. At 16 they are discharged.—The State pays for this class $140 per annum per pupil, and then clothes them at an expense of $25 additional, making $165 in all, and for every dollar thus expended it will reap a hundred fold. Boys and girls trained up in these schools are taught to work, and also receive the rudiments of an education, which will enable them to go smoothly through the world. The Cassville school is certainly a very good one, and no taxpayer can make a better investment or contribute to a more worthy object. The general arrangement and supervision of everything connected with this institution is committed to the care of Mr. I. F. H. Spicer, a gentleman whose heart is earnestly in the work and whose services are exceedingly valuable.

☞"Can I induce you to invest in a lock?" smilingly inquired a travelling agent for an improved door fastening, of a plain looking old maid, whom he encountered sweeping off the front step. "You might, sir," she replied, with a ghastly smile, eyeing him carefully, for a moment, from head to foot, "in wed-lock!"

TO THE AFFLICTED!

AN ARTICLE OF REAL MERIT!

FOSTER'S

ORIENTAL

BITTERS,

A Remedy that has been tried and stood the test, not only in an occasional case, but in every community where used it has been pronounced the safest and most reliable remedy known for

DYSPEPSIA,
LOSS OF APPETITE,
WEAKNESS,
GENERAL DEBILITY,
PAIN OR CRAMP IN THE STOMACH OR BOWELS,
CHOLERA MORBUS,
HEADACHE,
NEURALGIA,
INTERMITTENT, OR CHILLS AND FEVER,
LIVER TONIC,
AND FOR ALL FEMALE DISEASES.

As an agreeable and safe remedy and an Invigorating Beverage it has no equal.

This valuable Bitters is composed of the essential properties of roots—the medicinal qualities of which have been carefully extracted. It is agreeable to the taste and does not leave that unpleasant taste in the mouth for hours after, that most medicines do.

As a Blood Purifier and Liver Tonic it has no equal.—It contains no calomel or other injurious drug, but is purely vegetable.

For Dyspepsia it cannot be excelled. It contains nothing injurious to the stomach, is mild and prompt in its action and effects a permanent cure by removing the cause of the complaint.

For Intermittent Fever or Chills and Fever this Bitters is a specific far better and surer than quinine.

No family should be without it as the cost is trifling compared with the suffering that may be avoided by having it at hand in case of sudden attack.

Weakly Persons use the Oriental Bitters.

Invalids use the Oriental Bitters.

Dyspeptics use the Oriental Bitters.

Females use the Oriental Bitters.

Has been in successful practice for a number of years, with the experience of the different Hospitals in Europe and America. Army and Hospital Surgeon during the late American War, continues to attend to all professional cases at his office,

No. 928 Filbert Street, Philadelphia.

No Patent Medicines are used or recommended: the remedies administered are those which will not break down the constitution, but renovate the system from all injuries it has sustained from mineral medicines, and leave the system in a healthy and perfectly cured condition.

DYSPEPSIA,

that distressing disease and fell destroyer of health and happiness, undermining the constitution and yearly carrying thousands to untimely graves, can most emphatically be cured.

MELANCHOLY ABERRATION, that state of alienation and weakness of the mind which renders persons incapable of enjoying the pleasures or performing the duties of life.

RHEUMATISM,

in any form or condition, chronic or acute, warranted curable.

EPILEPSY,

or falling sickness, all chronic or stubborn cases of radically removed; Salt Rheum and every description of ulcerations; Piles and Scrofulous Diseases which have baffled all previous medical skill, can be cured by my treatment; and I do say all diseases [ycs Consumption] can be cured by wearing my Medicated Jacket, which is a protection to the lungs against all changes of weather in all climates. Having investigated for years the cause and character of intermittents [fever and ague] in all parts of the United States, will cure permanently all chronic or acute cases of ague and nervous diseases in a few days.

Cancer Cured without the use of Knife, or Drawing Blood.

Tape Worm, that dread to the human family for years, can be removed with two or three doses of my newly discovered remedy, warranted in all cases. Consultation in the English and German languages. Will make visits any distance desired. May be addressed by letter [confidentially] and medicine sent with proper directions to any part of the country.
